Request:

One of our customers requested a wall mount for a VideoConference camera. The idea was to use this in combination with a currently installed VideoConference system.

Solution:

SmartMetals has developed a bracket upon which the camera can be fastened. Besides that she has taken the cabling into account, this can be neatly run through the cable duct or through the wall.

Concept:

Due to this VideoConference solution the customer is able to save money and time, now she can meet with their subsidiaries and international partners, while not having to leave their office.
